Welcome

Looking forward to a different kind of year - one that lifts your spirits and renew your energy? The place to start is art!

Art in all its forms teaches us to imagine, aspire, and dream. It helps us seize our present and build our future. The arts increase our self-esteem and confidence, connect us to one another and help reduce our stress. They have a tangible and vital impact on our lives.

Arts education helps us improve our cognitive abilities by getting both the right and left brains working together. Through classes, your imagination can take flight and your talents can flourish. For now, education programming at the Guild will continue to take place online to ensure everyone’s safe participation.

When you see a class of interest to you or your child, please register as soon as possible. Our classes are dependent on enrollment, and we want to make every class available. If for any reason classes cannot take place as scheduled, we will work with you to offer another option, including a refund if necessary.

We are hoping to add more and more classes to the line-up, so keep an eye on our website. We at the Guild take our place in the community very seriously and we are here for you!

Thank you for your amazing support; see you in class!!!

Rachel Haider
Interim Executive Director
FREE ART MAKING

Open Art
Throughout the year, we offer free open art making! A new project will be introduced every 40 minutes. Drop in for part of the session or stay for the whole time! Follow the planned craft or let creativity guide your art making. Our projects utilize materials commonly found at home. This program is free! All ages.
1/29, 2/15, 3/29, 4/15, 5/31
10am—12pm
Instructor: Jennie Eubank
Live on Zoom!

Guild@Home
The Guild continues to offer free online programming that includes free art instruction videos and other activities in visual and performing arts.
Bilingual Spanish/English arts activity videos are added monthly, created by Jennie Eubank.
For more details visit: northfieldartsguild.org/guild@home

Class Cancellations & Rescheduling
We are excited to present this winter/spring education programming, which, as always, is dependent on enrollment for online classes and workshops to occur. If for any reason classes cannot take place as scheduled, we will work with you to offer an alternative option, reschedule the program or refund you in full.

INSTRUCTORS

Jennie Eubank, originally from Farmington, Minnesota, spent 25 years in Northern California where she worked in landscaping, school garden teaching, and eventually as a Spanish and an elementary school teacher. Jennie is a visual artist and writer of poetry and prose, and just released her first children’s book. She has been a backing vocalist in reggae bands, is an avid reader and enjoys spending the rest of her free time with her sweet pup, frolicking in nature! Jennie believes we all have something to say and express.

Julie Fakler creates vibrant original domestic animal paintings and pet portraits. She received individual artist grants from the Southeastern Minnesota Arts Council (SEMAC) for projects that promote animals from the Prairie’s Edge Humane Society (2011), S.A.F.E. Sanctuary (2014), and Southeastern MN Farm Animal Portraits (2017). Fakler is the director of operations at the Paradise Center for the Arts, and sits on the SEMAC Board of Directors. She holds a BFA in painting and drawing from Minneapolis College of Art and Design.

Rachel Haider is an accomplished theater arts director, instructor, and performer, directing shows with both adults and children of all ages. Her extensive resume’ includes work with professional, community and educational theaters. Some of her recent area productions include The Prince and the Pauper, Matilda, The Great Northfield Bank Robbery: A Love Story, Mansfield Park, Les Misérables School Edition, and The Miracle Worker. She has taught in public and private schools, as well as with several arts organizations. Rachel recently served as the Performing Arts Manager at the Guild and is currently the Interim Executive Director.

Melissa Martinson began to fall in love with clay in the fall of 2013 when taking Intro to Ceramics and Intermediate Ceramics with Ron Gallas at St. Olaf. Melissa has assisted with clay camps at Northern Clay Center. She also teaches clay classes at the Paradise Center for the Arts.
INSTRUCTORS

Shari Setchell is both a registered yoga teacher and certified Global Somatics Practitioner; she applies somatic and yogic principles training in her ballet instruction. A multi-time choreographer for Northfield High School’s Rock ‘n’ Roll Revival she also choreographs the fall musicals there. Shari teaches dance at Arcadia Charter School, and choreographs musicals at regional theaters. In all her work, Shari focuses on empowering her dancers with tools to be unique.

Kate Stuart began teaching music at the age of 17, dance a few years later, and hasn’t stopped since. After earning a B.Mus. and M.A., she pursued further graduate studies in music and dance while choreographing 10 years of Madrigal Dinners at two universities, dancing at the WI Shakespeare Festival, and teaching at St. Olaf College. Currently she teaches at the Northfield Arts Guild and FiftyNorth.

GET INVOLVED

Teach
We’re always looking for talented, passionate artists and teachers of all arts disciplines: visual arts, theater, dance, literary arts and every art style in between! Class proposals are accepted year-round with deadlines approximately three months prior to each semester (Fall: Sept. 1-Dec. 31, Winter/Spring: Jan. 1-May 31, and Summer: June 1-Aug. 31). Classes range from multiple weeks to one-time workshops. Email Interim Executive Director, Rachel Haider, at rachel@northfieldartsguild.org to find your place at the Guild!

Volunteer
We love our volunteers! They drive our programs. From our volunteer-led committees to one-time special events to helping to fix a broken faucet, we need people of all skill levels and interests here at the Guild! Email Interim Executive Director, Rachel Haider, at rachel@northfieldartsguild.org to find out about volunteer opportunities.

Exhibit
We have opportunities for you in our exhibition spaces, gift shop and at our Riverfront Fine Arts Festival. Visit northfieldartsguild.org/visual-arts for more information and for upcoming open call details, or email Visual Arts Manager Heather Lawrenz at heather@northfieldartsguild.org.

Perform
We are hopeful to resume live performing arts programming in spring/summer 2021. Visit our website for updates.

The Northfield Arts Guild Theater and the Cannon Valley Regional Orchestra invite performing artists of all levels and ages to participate! Email Interim Executive Director, Rachel Haider, at rachel@northfieldartsguild.org or visit northfieldartsguild.org/theater for more info. To audition for CVRO, contact Director Paul Niemisto at niemisto@stolaf.edu.

Education Program Locations
All Winter/Spring 2021 arts education programming is offered online via Zoom. Zoom is a free app, so be sure to download and/or update the app to take part in classes. A zoom link will be sent for each specific class that you can use for every session of that class.

Accessibility
The Northfield Arts Guild welcomes all of our community to participate in our arts programming! If you need accommodations, the Guild will strive to meet all requests. To request accommodations or if you have questions about our access accommodations, please call 507.645.8877.
POLICIES

Classes at the Guild: Students, young and old, novice and experienced, are invited to explore their creative voices while guided by teachers who are working professionals and certified art instructors. We offer classes in dance, music, theater, literary and visual arts. Classes lay the groundwork for aesthetic development and a lifelong appreciation of the arts. Please note that instructors and classes are subject to change.

Tuition: Guild activities are among the most affordable in town! Our rates are competitive and reflect our focus on quality instruction. Most of our teachers are K-12 certified art educators and/or professional artists. And remember, most families can claim children's fine arts classes as educational expenses on income taxes. Contact the office for receipts if needed.

Scholarships: Based on financial need, scholarships may be available for select classes through the Community Action Center. Call 507.664.3550.

Installment Options: You have the option to make your payments for a class in installments. Call us at 507.645.8877 for more information or to set up an installment plan.

Discounts: Guild members receive a 10% discount on all classes (when paying online, you must create account and sign in to receive the discount). Member & nonmember prices are listed for each class. A 50% sibling discount is available for most online classes – contact us to register. A 5% multiple class discount is available for a student registering for 3 or more dance classes in a semester. Please call the office to register and receive the sibling or multi-dance class discount.
